

Executive Leadership Program

Scholarships for Senior Not-for-Profit Leaders

Applications close 26 November

We're looking for high potential, seasoned executives to join likeminded peers for a learning opportunity of a lifetime at McKinsey Academy's Executive Leadership Program beginning in May 2021.

The Executive Leadership Program (ELP) is a 'hands on' leadership development program that develops self-aware leaders who have the capability and conviction to lead in the age of complexity and disruption. This program accelerates the development of senior talent by increasing self-awareness, exploring topics with a diverse faculty of leaders and coaches, and personalising insights within groups of external peers.

ELP is designed to help executives sharpen and expand their leadership skills and build the critical capabilities required to lead and thrive in a world of increasing uncertainty and volatility.

This developmental program is best suited to CEOs, senior managers, and experienced executives who are seeking personal and professional growth. Each year, the class comprises 150 seasoned executives from 50+ organisations drawn from private, public, NFP and social sectors.

Applicants Australia-wide are welcome to apply.
